

XM Radio is much more valuable to me than the choices, or lack thereof, that I have in traditional radio broadcasting. My position requires me to travel most of my time, throughout the state and throughout the country. XM is always there for me, my constant companion on the road, in the office and at home. The ability to have instant weather and traffic reports on the same station every time in every city is essential. I do not have to flip the dial constantly until I can find it in a new city. I enjoy XM as do millions of others - do not take that away from us. Radio will never go away - advertisers fuel their fire allowing them to continue on. XM is a welcome change - let us keep it!
